

HOW TO USE LINKEDIN TO GENERATE LEADS

“Generating leads is one of the biggest challenges that most businesses face today. LinkedIn is often an under utilised tool to help tackle that problem”

BEFORE WE GET STARTED...

- If you are an employee, it is probably a good time to refresh yourself with the company Social Media Policy Handbook.
- The world of digital communications is changing rapidly and policies should reflect those changes.
- Ensure you are up-to-date by checking them out.

ARE YOU CONNECTED TO THE RIGHT COMPANY ON LINKEDIN?

- Ensure you are connected (by being employed by) the correct company on LinkedIn. Is there a correctly identified company on LinkedIn? Make sure you are connected there.

If your company logo looks like this, you are possibly not!

“Make sure you are connected to the right company on LinkedIn”

- ARE YOU SPENDING WAY TOO MUCH TIME TRYING TO FIND YOUR NEW CLIENTS THROUGH TRADITIONAL MEANS SUCH AS NETWORKING, COLD-CALLING AND SENDING OUT UNOPENED EMAILS?
- ARE REFERRALS NOT DRIVING ENOUGH NEW OPPORTUNITIES?
- IS YOUR COMPETITION OUT-PERFORMING YOU BECAUSE THEY ARE LEVERAGING THE POWER OF LINKEDIN?

Let's identify the factors you need to get sorted to be successful at finding and nurturing new client opportunities on LinkedIn...

IS YOUR LINKEDIN PROFILE READY TO ATTRACT AND ENGAGE?

- Profile Picture
Make sure you have a professional headshot, smiling, full face in frame, be dressed appropriately. This is not Facebook!
- Headline
Be compelling, tell a story of how you can help, full of valuable keywords (120 characters).
- Location
Think not where you live or work, but where you want to do business.
- Contact Details
Are they up-to-date? Are they added into your Summary? Make yourself fully contactable.
- LinkedIn URL
Is it personalised? Add it to your business card and email signature to get found.
- Summary
It should be about you and not your company. LinkedIn is a social platform, people connect with people. Tell your professional story. Add a Call-to-Action and your contact details.
- Experience
Demonstrate your expertise and your life's journey and your achievements. Not what you did, but how you did it.
- Education
Detail your qualifications and which institutions you attended. It helps build your network and demonstrates your capabilities.
- Skills (sometimes called Endorsements)
If you don't prioritise them, LinkedIn and your connections will - stay in control of what you want to be known and found for.
- Recommendations
This is your chance to shine - seek them where you can. Do you regularly recommend people? Perhaps you should?

“There are many sections available to you on LinkedIn. Make sure you complete them all. You will never know what piece of information attracts a new connection.”

PRIVACY SETTINGS

LinkedIn is a public networking platform, so we wish to be found and our details easily found for the right opportunities.

However, there are some settings which will help us maintain a degree of privacy.

- Who can see your connections?
My recommendation is to change this setting to 'Only You'. That way, you can't make your trusted network available to people who may not be as respectful as you amongst those connections.
- Sharing profile edits
When in profile improvement mode, turn this to 'No'. You don't want to potentially share repeated small edits to your connections while you smarten up your profile.
- Viewers of this profile also viewed
This is a very useful LinkedIn feature when viewing other people's profiles, but not on your own profile. I recommend turning this off.
- Profile viewing options
Did you know you can view profiles anonymously? There are some occasions when it is good to do research 'undercover'. However, in general, this setting should be switched on. (Otherwise you can't see, on a free account, who is viewing your profile, which is very valuable intelligence).
- Show your date of birth?
LinkedIn is not Facebook. Thanks, but I don't want people to know my birthday on this platform. Take it off to ensure that this important piece of security data is protected.

There are many fake profiles lurking on LinkedIn. Why? To scrape your data. You can protect yourself by examining your requests to connect very carefully. If in doubt, don't connect, or send them a message asking why they'd like to connect.

DO YOU KNOW WHO YOUR IDEAL CLIENT PROSPECTS ARE?

- Have you created an ideal prospect profile that includes demographics and what their pain-points are?
- Do you know how you can solve their problems?
- Do you regularly curate/create and share content that helps them solve their problems with examples from real-case scenarios?
- Do you know which LinkedIn Groups they participate in?

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO FIND AND REACH OUT TO YOUR IDEAL PROSPECTS?

- Do you know how to use Advanced Search and Boolean operators to find them?
- Do you understand the etiquette of how to reach out professionally on LinkedIn to attract, engage and nurture the relationship?
- Do you have a strategy for providing value in the Groups where your ideal customers hang out?
- Have you clarified your Call-To-Action (CTA) you want your prospects to take? For example, a strategy call, a virtual coffee meeting, a PDF download or 'watch this video'?
- Do you have the means to capture the email address of your ideal prospects when they visit your profile but are not ready to buy yet, so you can further nurture the relationship off LinkedIn? You will never make the sale on LinkedIn, so don't be guilty of trying too hard.

“DONT BE guilty of ‘selling’ on LinkedIn. This is the place to engage. The selling will take place elsewhere.”

ARE YOU TRACKING YOUR COMPETITORS AND INDUSTRY THOUGHT LEADERS?

- Do you know how to become anonymous so you can view, for example, your competitors' profiles?
- Are you 'Following' your competitors' Company Pages on LinkedIn?
- Have you found, and now Followed, industry leaders and commentators? This option is available, as well as the option to connect.
- Do you know how to set up 'Google Alerts' to keep track of your competitors and useful intelligence?
- Are you checking the individual profiles of your competitors? What can you learn? (Make sure you are in private mode).

ARE YOU 'SYSTEM READY' FOR LINKEDIN PROSPECTING?

- Do you record your communication in your CRM system or a database, or even a spreadsheet for keeping track of your prospecting activities?
- Are you prepared for the long-game of courting your prospects?
- Do you have a library of scripts and templates for reaching out to your prospects?
- Do you have a system for tracking your competitors?
- Do you have a content strategy in place for regular engagement with your target audience?
- Are you able to continually produce and curate content that is useful to your ideal prospects?
- Have you allocated time in your diary to manage the strategy to make LinkedIn work for you? If you do nothing, nothing will happen.

“Success on LinkedIn comes from understanding a process. Have a strategy, and stick to it.”

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO ENGAGE AND AMPLIFY YOUR POSTED CONTENT?

Share an article, photo, video or idea

 Write an article    Images    Video   Post

- Having a profile and doing nothing with it will deliver you no benefit at all.
- Posting content is one key aspect of successful engagement.
- When you find content that interests you, pass it along to your network.
- Here's what works best:
  - 'Like' it
  - 'Comment' on it
  - 'Share' it
- A 'Like' is the easiest option, but it is also the least valuable. Better than nothing, but...
- A 'Comment' is really valuable. It ensures you are engaged and offers you the ability to add your perspective to a discussion and turns you into a thought leader in your sector.
- A 'Share' is probably the most valuable. It shows you value the content and feel it is worth sharing with your network. It provides you with a better opportunity to engage and share your knowledge of the subject with your prospect audience. This shouldn't be just your company content, but any good information that will inform your audience. Be a giver. Don't 'firewall' your valuable content.

THE VERY BEST THING YOU CAN DO!

- The world is turning mobile. Much of our communication is received via our mobile handset. This brings with it the opportunity to turn our content into video.
- With a video option now embedded natively into the LinkedIn app on our smart phones, we have a great opportunity to create useful video on-the-fly.
- Put yourself in the mindset of a potential customer:
  - What do they want to hear?
  - What tips can you give them?
  - How has a recent experience helped solve a difficult problem?
  - Make it short and sweet, 30-90 seconds is ideal.
- The power of video is enormous. Having the confidence to produce video content will really set your LinkedIn profile apart.
- Give it a go and see the results for yourself!

Now you will have identified the different areas you need to improve to ensure you are maximising the value of your LinkedIn profile.

Selling in a digital age is not about promoting information about your company, it is about educating, being useful and helpful in solving problems and potential customer pain points.

If you consistently create and share great content that helps your customers, you will stay front-of-mind and build increasing trust with your prospects and existing clients.

Be in the conversation!
